

Young
Audiences
Arts for Learning

Maryland

Young Audiences/Arts for Learning has been transforming the lives and education of youth through the arts by connecting educators, professional artists, and communities since 1950.

Assemblies..

Young Audiences' assemblies inspire and motivate students with live, interactive, educational arts experiences. Performed by professional YA artists, assemblies are a wonderful way to introduce students to new artistic disciplines and cultures!

Residencies...

Engage students in creative experiences through a series of in-depth visits from a YA professional teaching artist who works alongside teachers and students. All YA residencies are skill and Maryland State Curriculum-based. YA staff are available to assist you in identifying and securing grant and funding opportunities.

Professional Development...

YA professional development for educators is aligned with the new Common Core Standards and are designed to increase teachers' comfort level in teaching both in and through the arts. Programs provide the basis for improving student achievement in the arts and other academic subjects!

Contact Shana Teel at 410-837-7577 or Shana@yamd.org for more information